Good morning,

- Events last night were one offs and individuals that are attaching themselves to the event from the local area
- Some trucks seen in the local area and have been greeted by PLT without incident
- With the intake of additional services coming to support, it has added extra strain to the planning, staffing and logistics team which we are currently upstaffing
- First convoy anticipated to arrive around noon, we will be updated when they leave Kingston (intent has not yet been revealed)
- Western convoy expected to be delayed in arriving at Arnprior tonight
- Most convoys still anticipated to arrive on Saturday with some potentially arriving in the area later today
- Large trucks account for approx. 25% of convoy strength, rest are private motor vehicles
- Approximately 5% of the large trucks have trailers
- PLT is focusing on securing numbers on their assigned convoys and determining intent (parking/actions)
- NCRCC has been stood up for 0900 hrs

Further updates will be provide later today
Russell
